

LONG YEARS AGO

October 23, 1903

Another disastrous prairie fire 20 miles south east of Didsbury at the beginning of the week destroyed 1000 tons of hay put up by W. Siebert. Many other ranchers lost large quantities of hay and the whole country between the Rosebud and Stoney Creek was burned. The fire stopped at the Lone Pine.

I.B. Scheldel has opened a carpet making factory east of the C.P. track and is now open for business.

A.J. Thomas has purchased the "Didsbury Pioneer" from Mr. G.E. Grow.

Mr. Hill's threshing outfit is now working on J.H. Raymer's place and with fine weather the grain is threshing well.

Liesemer and Studer are having a cash removal sale prior to moving to their new store building.

NATIONAL CLOTHING
DRIVE CONTINUES
FOR ANOTHER WEEKCollection Depot Will Be Open This Week End

It has just been announced from the Ottawa headquarters of the National Clothing Collection that the campaign which was originally scheduled to end on October 20th, will be extended to the 27th of October. This was made necessary as the need for clothing in Europe is extremely urgent. From all reports now coming in it is expected that this winter will be the most tragic in human history unless the clothing is forthcoming. More and more clothing must be sent without delay. It is important that every available garment in our community is collected. Anyone still having old, useful clothing to donate should leave it at the clothing collection depot at the Roschold Hotel. This depot will be open Thursday and Friday from 3 to 5 p.m., and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A group of young people gathered at the Pace home to honor the 12th birthday of young Jeffrey. Refreshments, including a birthday cake with 12 candles and real ice cream, were served.

Jack Boulton shipped in two car loads of feeder cattle last week. Sqdn. Leader Louis Spragg has received his discharge from the R.C.A.F. and has resumed his position at the Atlas Lumber Co. in Town.

Jim Mackie of Arrowwood is visiting with his aunt, Mrs. Joe Clark.

Mrs. Arthur Jenkins returned on Saturday evening after a round of visiting in the Turner Valley district for the past week.

We are sorry to hear of the sudden illness of Howard Lyons. We trust the operation was a success and wish him a speedy recovery. Mrs. Howard Charlton of Carstairs visited Monday with her sister, Mrs. Ivor Weber.

MELVIN NEWS NOTES

Last week the west blind line was the scene of two unfortunate traffic accidents within two days and not two miles apart. On Tuesday evening a car from Beren collided with John Luff's loaded grain truck just west of DuPont's corner. Luckily no one was seriously injured.

On Thursday morning Henry Neilson driving a light delivery truck and accompanied by his wife and two daughters collided with a loaded gravel truck on the curve just east of the Dog Pound bridge. Mr. Neilson was taken to the hospital for treatment but is reported improving nicely. The others were fortunate enough to escape with minor scratches and bruises.

These accidents are a current reminder against speedy or careless driving.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cox and daughter Erna of High Prairie spent a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. Carlson last week. Roy used to attend Melvin public school and while here he renewed many old acquaintances.

Mrs. Ray of Garfield spent several days last week visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Ross Young.

We are glad to hear that Lloyd Fischer has landed in Canada and will be home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gibson of Vegreville spent a couple of days this week with Miss Ruth Johnston. They came to attend Grandma Gibson's funeral.

Mrs. Geo. Sandhuik and Gordon of Drumheller have been visiting a couple of weeks at the Johnston home.

NINTH VICTORY LOAN DRIVE GETS UNDER WAY HERE MONDAYBuy All The Victory
Bonds You Can Afford

The drive for Bonds in the Ninth Victory Loan campaign got under way in the Didsbury district on Monday morning and active campaigning is now going on in an endeavor to contact as many as possible before the snow flies.

Official canvassers are E. Coates, well, Geo. Youngs and W.W. Gilchrist. These canvassers are handicapped in making the contacts due to the fact that harvesting operations are still in progress, and will be west of town for some time yet.

The quota for Didsbury and district in the Ninth Victory Loan is $123,000 and the local committee feels that if everyone will buy the bonds they can afford there will be little difficulty experienced in reaching the objective.

You are urged to buy all the Bonds you can. The money is still needed to bring our boys home and get them re-established in civil life.

You are only asked to lend your money, and you are paid 3 per cent interest on the investment. You are urged to buy your Bonds immediately. Do not wait for the canvasser to call, but drop in to Unit Headquarters in C.E. Reibel's office, or to the local branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, and make your application.

The main consideration is to get your application in as quickly as possible, and for as much as possible.

OLD TIMERS MAY HAVE DREAMS REALIZED

The vote of the ratepayers on the water and sewage system for Didsbury takes place in January 1946 and the by-laws are now in preparation.

Putting in of this water system will be a big advantage to Didsbury, and while the whole town cannot be served immediately with water and sewage, once the nucleus of a system is installed it will not be long before the whole town will have water and sewage connections.

Old timers who founded Didsbury and who are still resident here are backing the plan as a whole. In fact one old timer told the "Pioneer" that when Didsbury was booming back in 1903 and later it was the dream of the people at that time that the town would become modern and grow to one of the best settlements along the C. & E. line. And this view is true of many of the old timers who were responsible for Didsbury becoming a settlement in the first place. Now that they are getting on in years the old timers can look back at the progress Didsbury has made and take pride in the part they have played in the town's progress and expansion.

Before these old timers pass to the Great Beyond one of their last duties to the town of Didsbury will be to do all in their power to help us get the final improvement which will allow Didsbury to become the settlement of their dreams and provide sanitation and comforts for their loved ones.

Let us hope that other residents will take the same attitude as some of our old timers, and boost all they can for the water and sewage plan for Didsbury.

EDUCATION FOR FUTURE FARMERS

The progressive farmer knows that there is more to growing crops than scratching the ground and throwing in the seed. He knows there is more to keeping livestock than giving them a little feed and letting them roam in the pasture.

He knows that there are such things as purity of seed, proper cultivation practices, methods of fighting Nature's adverse agencies whether they be blights, rusts, rots, insects, weeds, or whatever else. He knows that animals are subject to the laws of heredity, that genetics can guide him in breeding practices, that feed must be "balanced" for adequate nutrition. He knows that these things and a host of others apply in crop growing and in livestock care.

And so it is with all his farming operations. Farming is not a rule-of-thumb procedure. It requires the application of thought fortified by knowledge for best results.

As a background for a proper understanding of farming in all its branches, he recognizes the value of a course at the agricultural school or college. If he has a real desire for his young son to become a good farmer, he wants him to go there when he is old enough, to obtain a start towards amassing reliable information that will guide him in the future.

With this in mind he will plan his savings toward sending him when he gets older. With this in mind, also, he will hold on to his Victory Bonds, and buy more in the Ninth Victory Loan, so that some of them can be put to this constructive use when the time comes.

TO TAKE 90 PER CENT
HOGS FOR BRITAIN

In swift response to Britain's hurry-up call for bacon, the Meat Board has instructed exporting packing plants to rush to seaboard the product of 90 per cent of all hogs slaughtered until October 20. This action follows the disclosure in the House of Commons on October 4th by Hon. James G. Gardiner that reduced Canadian bacon deliveries have forced Britain to consider reducing its meagre bacon ration to one-half that of the war years.

Mr. Gardiner said that Sir Ben Smith, British Minister of Food, in an urgent trans-Atlantic telephone call yesterday noon, had declared that unless Canada could deliver 14,000 long tons of bacon in both October and November, the British people might have their bacon ration cut to two ounces weekly. (Reduced Canadian bacon shipments necessitated Britain's reducing her wartime four-ounce ration to three ounces in May.)

The Meat Board said to-day that unless it had appropriated for export nine out of ten hogs—except sows and stags—slaughtered in exporting plants from today until October 20th, October shipments to Britain would probably not have exceeded 11,000 tons, but that as a result of its latest action, it is extremely optimistic that clearances would very closely approximate the 14,000 tons requested by the Ministry. With the anticipated normal increase in fall marketings of hogs, there should be little difficulty in meeting or even exceeding the minimum requirements for November, said the Board.

UNITED KINGDOM CLOCK
INDUSTRY BEGINS WORK

United Kingdom clock manufacturers intend to make eight million popular priced watches yearly as part of their great peacetime programme, reports the Daily Express. These watches will go to all parts of the world. One of the largest United Kingdom clock making firms reports a widespread demand for the moderately priced watch, especially from China, Africa and India. The present strength of the industry is to be augmented by the addition of a number of former war factories. Besides clocks and watches they will make instruments for civil aircraft, cameras, binoculars, microscopes, navigation

A Message TO FARMERS from a Farmer

H. H. Hannam is President and Managing Director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. In a message addressed to farmers, Mr. Hannam says:

"The farmer who is wise will look ahead and plan carefully.

"And in these years when prices and returns are more satisfactory than they have been, when labor is scarce, when farm machinery is restricted, when building materials are not readily available, a good course to follow would be that of putting a substantial share of the year's earnings into sound securities such as Victory Bonds. These reserves will not only provide a measure of insurance against difficulties in less favorable years, but at such time when supplies are favorable and costs will probably be lower, their purchasing power will be greater and return from them correspondingly increased.

"We believe this is good planning from the farmer's standpoint. At the same time, it is the very best of planning from the standpoint of the Nation."

THE NINTH VICTORY LOAN

Didsbury district, with a fine record of performance behind it in previous campaigns, is organized fully for the Ninth Victory Loan campaign now under way.

Didsbury's quota in the current drive has been set at $123,000 and although this is a substantial sum, unit organizers and salesmen are confident that the district will attain its objective before the end of the campaign.

Although the quota allocated to this district represents but a small amount of the $51,000,000 that Alberta has been asked to raise during the current Victory Loan campaign, nevertheless the bonds which will be purchased in this district will be of direct assistance in aiding the province to obtain its quota.

The local Victory Loan campaign organization is alert to the important part that this district is being called upon to play in the province wide campaign, and for this reason they are calling upon everyone, townspeople and farmers alike to help the district go over the top.

The budget for the fiscal year tabled in the House of Commons last Friday indicated that the government is alive to the necessity of returning to peace time administration. Personal income tax has been cut by 16 per cent and a new income tax deal for farmers and ranchers appears to be in the offering.

Let the residents of this district do their share. Let us all buy bonds and so aid the government in financing its rehabilitation program. This district has chalked up an enviable record in previous loans. Let's show the rest of Alberta that we can do it again and sign our name to Victory.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Pioneer:

As one of the petitioners seeking to PREVENT the increase of the present minimum rate to the users of electricity from $1.50 to $2.40 per month, I would like to reply to Mr. C. Flanagan's letter in your last week's issue. Both of our petitions are quite agreeable to have the power Co. grant a reduction in rates as no doubt they can well afford it, but our petition objects that this should be done at the expense of the small home owners. The power people did not come to the Councils of the various towns and villages with a complaint that they could not afford to continue supplying electricity to the consumers at the present rate, but with a "cold blooded" offer to make certain reductions in the general rates if we permitted them to raise the minimum from $1.50 to $2.40 per month. They probably assumed that this reduction would lead to a great increase in consumption and earnings would soon return to their former level and the raise in the minimum would be clear gain to them.

Perhaps Mr. Flanagan is not aware of the fact that we, some years ago, erected a lighting plant in Didsbury and operated it quite successfully, the minimum rate being $1.50 per month and other rates about the same as at present. Now if we were able to do this with a steam plant when the town was much smaller, should it not be possible to have the reductions as offered by the Co. made without penalizing the small users.

Mr. Flanagan states that "No doubt by an inexpensive process of adjustment these people can utilize to full advantage the small difference in the power bill and continue to enjoy the cheaper rates". Whatever he means by this is not clear to me. I can assure him my bill will not be adjusted in that way; besides the minimum users are not looking for charity. There is something greater at stake. To me there seems to be only one way out. Let us all unitedly get busy take the matter up with the other towns and villages, as pointed out in my former letter we can reach the goal without making a sacrifice of the minimum rate of $1.50.

FARM MACHINERY RATIONING OFF

Ration restrictions on farm machinery and equipment, including tractors, have been removed but dealers will be expected to honour outstanding ration certificates before filling orders from new accounts, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces.

All production restrictions on farm machinery and equipment were lifted on August 20 and though production is still limited by manpower and raw materials, supplies during the current production year are expected to be increased 30 per cent. Increasing supplies will not be sufficient to meet all demands but will take care of essential requirements.

Distribution will be under the Board's equitable distribution policy, although implement dealers will likely give preference to requirements of returning servicemen, Board officials said. Farmers are urged to confine purchases to those items they need most urgently.

The greatest potential market for industrial goods in Canada and the world at large is to be found in rural areas. Sixty-six per cent of the people of the world till the soil. Some twenty-eight per cent of gainfully employed Canadians are farmers. These farmers represent the one undeveloped reservoir for the absorption of products. These people are short of everything from farm tractors and kitchen stoves to hats, shoes, paint and nails. If their purchasing power can be maintained, the greatest industrial expansion of the twentieth century can be initiated. If the farm people are impoverished by low prices industries lose their main market and labor loses jobs. These are facts which every Canadian should know and appreciate.

THAT JACK WROTE...

this is the Branch Bank where Jack keeps his money—so he does not have to keep his savings at home with the danger of loss, fire, or theft, and can pay bills safely and conveniently by cheque.

this is the Teller in a branch of a different bank in another city, who made sure that the man who presented the cheque was really the man Jack intended to pay. Then the amount of the cheque was added to that man's deposit account.

this is the Clearing House maintained by the banks so that customers' cheques can be exchanged and the banks can settle their accounts with one another every day. From here, Jack's cheque was sent to the clearing department of his own bank, and from there to the branch where Jack keeps his account.

this is the Ledger-Keeper who made sure that the signature was really Jack's. Then he debited Jack's account. The amount is entered in Jack's passbook next time he comes in, so he always knows exactly where he stands.

This is a sketchy outline of what happens when you pay an out-of-town bill by cheque. Many people pay their large local bills that way too. To be able to pay by cheque is a tremendous convenience which costs you little or nothing. Banks are the bookkeepers for millions of our fellow-Canadians.

Food Is Needed

Winter Promises To Be Grim In Britain And Europe

The need in Europe for fats and protein foods, such as meat, is desperate and the people cannot be reclaimed with preparations such as vitamin pills. Dr. L. E. Pett, director of the nutrition division of the Health and Welfare Department, said in an interview at Ottawa on his return from England.

"The people need food and everything that Canada can do to supply it is more than justified, no matter what inconvenience," he said.

"Even in England this winter promises to be as grim from a food standpoint as any during the war."

Dr. Pett has been in England attending a London meeting of the combined food board's committee on food consumption levels. He also discussed with Government officials and there the results of his work through Great Britain's planned food policy and studied a number of nutritional research projects.

He examined the special treatment given urgent cases brought to England from Holland and the Channel Islands and remarked that in spite of the stringent conditions, few specific vitamin deficiencies were noted.

"This may result in some revision of ideas in the field of vitamin research," he said.

Dr. Pett said that Britain's war food policy was a triumph. Through it the people's health had not only been maintained but had been improved during the war years.

Tea In Tablet Form

New Process Is Being Tested By London Organization

The London "Union of Ceylon Tea Planters" has recently received the first "tea tablets" which should considerably simplify and cheapen the production of tea. They are the result of a process based on long years of experiments carried out by the "Ceylon Tea Research Institute," which reduces the time required in producing tea from 24 hours to 2 hours. By means of this process, known as P.F.C., the tea is made into compressed tablets which save shipping space. The tablet-form tea is also about 50 per cent stronger than tea in its present form, and allows for a reduction in price. The London organization is now going to undertake further tests and experiments with the tea tablets. (Continued Standard Press-Editorial)

THE SCOTS

They Just Close In Around Us Like The Tide

By Bruce Hutchison
(Courtesy "Victoria Times")

The Legislature of British Columbia has lately displayed a distressing ignorance of us Scots. Mrs. Laura Jamieson, M.L.A., says that Canada has not yet assimilated either the Japanese or "the descendants of the wild Highlanders who, a few centuries ago, offered human sacrifices on some mountains in Scotland." The fact, of course, is that we Scots have not quite assimilated the Canadians yet, but we will. Give us a little more time.

On the whole, I feel that we have treated the Canadians with a fine tolerance and without any racial prejudice. We always employed them, at reasonable rates, since the earliest days. We hired them to paddle our fur-trade canoes, and we hired our bagpipers all day to encourage their labors. When we built our railways we always employed the Canadian to lay the track and haul the gravel. We never held their birth against them when it came to giving them jobs. But small thanks have we received from Canadians like Mrs. Jamieson.

Nay, we introduced the Canadians to our most sacred rite. We taught them to drink our whisky. Under its well-worn influence the Canadians have sometimes risen almost to our level, even members of the British Columbia Legislature, and if, as Mrs. Jamieson alleges, there has been a falling off in Canadian culture lately, you can blame the present wartime shortage of the essentials of a cultured life.

How patiently we have toiled to uplift the Canadians to our level. Not by preaching, our culture upon them, not by dictation from the top like the Germans, but by the fine example of humility from the bottom. Never by word or hint do we suggest our superiority. We go about this country as if we were merely Canadian ourselves, asking no recognition and no favors, just letting our Scotch nose quietly into the veins of society, and glad to let it ooze into ours whenever we are invited.

And ever modestly we display, almost without apology, the sublime talent of our race. Once a year only, on Burns' Night, we held aloft the torch of our genius, so that the Barbarian in the far wasteland may see it for a moment and, perhaps, strive for better things. We have never sought world or hint do we suggest our superiority. We do not compel the schools to teach it. We do not demand bilingualism as well we might.

And the Canadian is ever free to reject the bagpipe. We merely present the great chain of his people, the race, and the Canadian can partake of its glory or not as he pleases. If he prefers his crude native dishes, we say a little but we do not protest. We only pity him.

In politics we are equally humble. It is well known that we have been making the nation's business since the Battle of the Plains. That we have supplied most of the Prime Ministers of Canada and the majority of the Cabinet Ministers, and the House of Commons has always been under our control. But we have never been corrupted by power. We take other races into our cabinets, and we let them hold all but the highest posts, where special talents are required. We never called ourselves the Master Race. We didn't have to.

Could any conqueror be more kind and humane? Does human history hold the record of any dominant race which treated the lesser breeds so compassionately? We are a modest, quiet, unobtrusive people, content to hold our modest hamper and let other sports to play our pipes in secret, and wear the kilts on rare occasions, while most of the time we carry the awful responsibility of the country on our backs without complaining.

It may take us some time to assimilate all the Canadians, particularly the Japanese, but we are patient. We can wait. And in due time, when they are ready for it, we intend to startle them by granting the Canadians equality of status with us and to share the burdens of Government with them.

Competition Keen

Railways And Airlines Are Making Strong Bid For Patronage

That airplanes have finally reached a point where their rates are lower than rail-plus-Pullman on longer journeys is not surprising. The trend has been in that direction for some time, but the airlines are now offering a safety which compares favorably with that of railroads, rail managers are under new pressure to devise steps to hold their business. Lower rates and faster schedules are one step in that direction; better service and free meals on certain trains are another. Reserved seats in more day coaches that airlines even compete with coach travel in yet another possibility. Competition promises to be even keener within a few months. (Christian Science Monitor)

The Canadian Shield Much-Needed Outpost

The Interesting Question Is, What Is The Canadian Shield?

Here is the answer which the geologists of the Royal Ontario Museum give to this question. It is an area of ancient rocks that underlies about one-half of Canada. It is called a shield because it has in a broad way the shape of a low dome with rocks around its rim. It is thus something like the old-fashioned shield carried by warriors. The rocks run in age from about two billion years to 500 million years and it required about three-quarters of all geological time for them to form. The Shield was, in ancient times, a land of numerous and large volcanoes, it had great mountains and violent earthquakes, but the mountains and volcanoes have been worn away to mere stumps of their former grandeur by rain, streams and glacial action. In contrast to the early conditions, the great area is now free from earthquakes than any other area of its size in the world. There are relics of much primitive life, mainly plants in the Shield, but few fossils of animals. It is one of the great sources of metals because of an abundance of igneous rocks, but it lacks coal and oil which were not formed until later times.

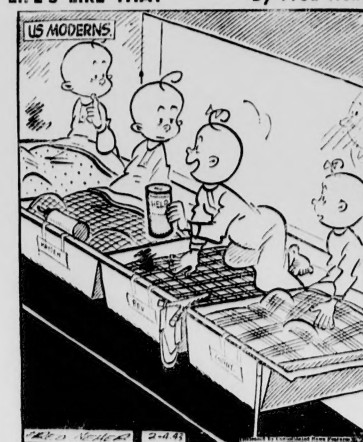

Rocks like those of the Shield underlie much of North America and if one drilled deep enough on the prairies or in southern Ontario such rocks would be found under the sediments.

COMMON COLD AFFECTS MORE WOMEN THAN MEN

The common cold affects more women than men, and hits office employees much harder than factory workers, according to a two-year study conducted by Joseph H. Kler, M.D., of New Brunswick, N.J.

Dr. Kler's report, appearing in a recent issue of Archives of Otolaryngology, published by the American Medical Association, covers basic and detailed facts about the occurrence of the common cold in industry which, he said, is responsible for more than one-third of the total number of days lost in American factories.

The study, among other things, disclosed that:

There is a definite pattern to the incidence of colds, with the highest peak in December and the lowest in July.

There is a definite correlation between temperature and the onset of colds, every sudden drop in temperature being followed in a day or two by a rise in the number of colds.

The highest incidence of colds was found in the age group 20 to 29 years and the lowest in the age group above 50 years. However, the percentage of time-losing colds increased with age.

There were more colds among women than among men.

There were consistently more colds among office workers than among factory workers.

There were fewer colds in air conditioned plants, with the incidence of colds highest in drafty places.

More colds start on Monday than on any other day of the week, this being especially true of colds among men.

Posture is an important factor, with the incidence and severity of colds lowest among those whose work necessitates walking about most of the time.

Smoking apparently has little effect on colds.

MUST BE GREAT LIFE

The Toronto Star says when a Prime Minister has elderly men in his Cabinet, his critics say they are a lot of old fogies. But when they die or retire, his critics say he has lost his experienced colleagues. And if they are replaced by younger men, his critics say that they are given hands who don't know the job they are expected to handle. It must be a great life, being a Prime Minister.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Uncle Dudley's Race

By H. F. VASLEY

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"I'm an old fellow if ever there was one," mumbled Uncle Dudley. "Should have had sense enough to keep my mouth shut. Well—I've got to go through with it now." He shook his head sadly.

Uncle Dudley was lean, but tough and wiry even though close to seventy, with hair white as a pie-bald's spots. There was devilry in him too, and a capacity for quick thinking. Not one of the country's staidest citizens, Dudley lived from hand to mouth in a fashion deplored by the ladies of the Uplift Society.

His one passion was walking. He counted the day lost if he did not get in at least ten miles of lively hoeing across the country. When he was not tramping he sat the local pool hall, tilted back in a chair and listening. The boys were discussing the merits of Ma Peddler's pies one day when Jed Whetter rumbled in on his pinto mare.

"There goes the President little mate in this county," Jim Lake declared. "Ain't nothing can outrun Daisy hereabouts." "Guess you're right," Dave Massey joined.

"Pretty little beast, too," chimed in Pop Walters, shifting his hat from his forehead and forty pounds to a more comfortable position. "She ain't big, but she sure has got action. Yes Sirs!"

"Sure, an' it's little the competition she'll be gettin' around here," Mike broke in. "I'm thinkin' that few men would waver a cent-whisper on a hundred-to-one shot against that little filly."

"Huh! I don't think she's so good as all that," spoke up Uncle Dudley. "Why? he chuckled, "give me twenty-five yards and I could beat her in a hundred-yard dash myself!" A great laugh of laughter answered him.

"Sure, your names have deserted you, Dudley, me boy," said Mike. "Dudley spoke sharply. He could never stand being laughed at. "Not a bit," he said. "I don't care, if only to show you old fellows and blatherers that there's one member in this rickety club who hasn't got both feet in the grave!"

"Bravo, Uncle Dudley!" broke in Jim Butler, who served a fine bit of fun. "I'll be your handler, and see Jed right away. Let's put it off until county fair day. Boy! Will this be a race?" And as it was decided.

Quickly the news spread to all parts of the village. The contest promised to be the big feature of the county fair. The ladies of the Uplift Society protested that to mix man and beast in such a race was a sin and a disgrace. The fair officials, thinking of their gate receipts, protested that the ladies of the Uplift Society were wrong. The whole county gradually resolved itself into two camps—Dedleyites and anti-Dedleyites. Arguments ran wild and free.

The morning of the fair dawned bright and clear. The sun blazed on a huge red-lettered sign: "Dedley runners to the contrary, the race will be run as scheduled at four this afternoon."

By ten o'clock the crowd had already become larger than any of the delighted fair officials had known. And still they came! New cars and jolting democrats and two-wheeled carts. The Dedleyites came in loyal numbers. The anti-Dedleyites came, not to see the race—oh, no! not to hit to be witnesses of the Dedleyites in their shameful ploys.

Uncle Dudley, lion of the day, remained calm, stolidly hiding his inner perturbation behind his lean plainness mask. He walked about the fair grounds surrounded by little boys running in open-mouthed admiration. After futilely trying to jam them off he finally accepted the inevitable and proceeded on his way, a tall island suspended in a sea of bright young faces.

Dudley's dinner was passed from hand to hand pieced from the distant shores to the center of the island, and it kept the Dedleyites of the process it gained much in the homely charm of its presentation. To shouldered suggestions that he rest and conserve his strength Dudley shook his head.

Four o'clock arrived at last. For hours the track feed had been lined with spectators. They pressed in deeper than ever, threatening to break it down. Sideshows were deserted, display buildings empty, the grandstand groaned and creaked. Dudley, rescued by force from his henchmen, was conducted to the track. Dedleyites and anti-Dedleyites mingled freely, antagonisms forgotten in the excitement of the final moment. Daisy was at the starting line, with Whetter's boy ready to ride. Her silky tail blew out like a pennant in the breeze as she minced nervously about the line.

"Ready!" the judge called. Dudley nodded and jammed his toe into the hole he had scraped out on the twenty-five yard line. Crouched down for a start he looked like a scarecrow which the wind had blown over. "Bang!" went the gun.

With a leap Dudley was away and the hoof beats behind him were drowned out in the great yell that rose from the watchers. Like an ungainly jack-rabbit he went, taking strides that covered two yards at a bound. Ragged coat-tails flew. Dudley touched the ground as he crossed the fifty yard line. A sound which made him turn his head. It couldn't be, surely. Yes—Daisy was right at his heels! Vainly he tried for an extra burst of speed.

The seventy-five yard line flew by and so did Dudley, as close he could have touched her. The wind whipped her tail to one side and it flicked Dudley sharply in the cross. Water, streamed out of them, almost blinding him. That was the final insult to injured vanity. Dudley's capacity for quick thinking came to the fore. He recalled that Daisy was very sensitive about that beautiful tail of hers. He'd show her that she couldn't make fun of him before the whole countryside! With a lucky lunge he caught the offending tail in both hands, giving it a tremendous sideways jerk that shook Daisy from stem to stern.

With a squeal of annoyance Daisy jammed on all four brakes, sliding to a full stop and throwing her rider head over heels. Her own little filly high in the air hoping to come in contact with her annexer. He, however, was not on his way by this time, and a whisp of delight arose from his followers as Uncle Dudley hopped nimbly across the finish line.

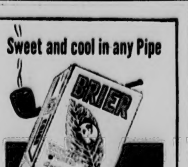

Gripping from ear to ear, he was raised to the shoulders of his enemies and carried triumphantly from the track, while his admirers howled in glee. The victor pried himself up from the dirt and sheepishly led his mount home.

The race was won! The anti-Dedleyites were completely routed, that is, all but Daisy, who stood in her still comely manner, her cats, which trembled that her reputation had been lost.

Pharmacy Advancement

Scholarships Planned For Canadian Pharmacy Students

The initial step in a nationwide program to raise the standards and acceptance of pharmacy in Canada was taken at the first meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Foundation for the Advancement of Pharmacy held in Montreal, recently. Plans for the raising of funds and their long-term use were outlined by President J. R. Kennedy.

"Scholarships are but one immediate phase of the Foundation's long range plans, however," Mr. Kennedy stated. "It is hoped that the whole standards of Canadian Pharmacy and the public's understanding of this profession will be raised. The local druggist plays an important part in maintaining the welfare of his community. He is the doctor's partner in maintaining public health. Too often he is not given credit for the part he plays. Last year Canadian Pharmacists dispensed more than 14 million prescriptions, quite apart from those dispensed in hospitals and by doctors themselves."

The Foundation will also help establish Extension Classes for graduate pharmacists to keep them abreast of newest developments plus a program of public information in all parts of the country. Committee chairman are: Committee on contributions, Mr. H. L. Schade, Windsor; committee on Pharmaceutical Education and Research, Dr. A. W. Matthews, Edmonton; committee on Professional Relations and Extensions Service, Mr. V. E. Hessel, Toronto; secretary, Mr. A. E. Laverty, Montreal.
